Counter Move by the Soviet

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—With armed forces on a global alert, the United States braced itself today for a possible counterstroke from Cairo or Moscow over the landing of U. S. Marines in Lebanon.

President Eisenhower told Congress and the nation late Tuesday that the American intervention to protect the pro-Western Lebanese government may have serious consequences.

But he said the risk had to be taken to save Lebanon from indirect aggression which he blamed on the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic.

Other high officials said the situation was extremely explosive—the greatest world crisis since the 1953 outbreak of war in Korea—and broad military precautions were essential.

None would predict whether Moscow and Cairo would content themselves with propaganda assaults on the United States or try some military moves of their own.

The Soviet Union already has termed the U. S. move an open act of aggression.

As for the U. S. government, more troops were reported prepared to go into Lebanon if necessary. Eisenhower informed Congress in a special message that the initial contingent of 5,000 Marines "will be augmented as required."

Marine Corps transports started airlifting an unspecified number of assault Marines from Cherry Point, N. C., to the Mediterranean area to back up those sent to Lebanon.

The Atlantic and Pacific fleets were readied for action under four-hour alert orders. The Strategic Air Command put its nuclear armed bomber forces in a heightened state of readiness.

While the President did not discuss most of these precautionary measures in his public pronouncements on the Middle East crisis, (Continued on Page Five)

Sailor Wed, Called to Ship in Hour

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP)—A Navy man was married at 2 a.m. today and about an hour later was on route back to his ship.

The unusual hour for the wedding and the hasty return to duty was in compliance with the alert of the U. S. fleets because of the crisis in Lebanon.

Francis A. Theroux, 20, of Pawtucket, and Ethel Barker, also 20, of Pawtucket, were to have been married at 9 a.m. today.

Because Theroux was hastily summoned to duty from a furlough he got special permission from the Rev. Russell J. McVinnay, Catholic bishop of Providence, for a 2 a.m. wedding at St. Teresa's Church.

At 3:45 a.m., Theroux boarded a train alone to return to his ship, the USS Salute, docked at Charlestown, S.C.

Economy in Advance, June Records Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government figures show June brought further recovery for the nation's economy.

Industrial production rose, new housing starts increased, nonagricultural employment made advances and personal income was up.

The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial activity showed a production rise for the second straight month after dropping for eight months. The rise for June was two points to 130 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The recession low of 120 was reached last April. The index record is 147 set in December 1947.

The Commerce Department reported personal income rose in June to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $31,800,000,000, a figure just 200 million dollars below the record set last August. The 1958 low of $30,400,000,000 was set in February.

The Commerce Department said the June rise reflected increases in wage and salary payments.

7-Inch Rain Reported in Kansas Town

FORT SCOTT, Kan. (AP)—Flood waters spread over a large section of this southeastern Kansas town this morning after an all-night downpour.

Seven inches of rain fell on Fort Scott, a city of 10,000 population, 86 miles due south of Kansas City, during the night.

The rain still was falling at dawn.

Police removed a few elderly persons from their homes, but there was no mass evacuation. No casualties have been reported.

The flood was the second in five days in Kansas. A flash flood hit Atchison, 60 miles northwest of Kansas City, Friday morning, causing severe damage and resulting in three deaths.

Troops Are Ready, Says McElroy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said today that he thinks the American people can be assured our forces are ready for any assignment.

McElroy made that comment to newsmen who met him on his hurried return from the nuclear weapons proving grounds in the Pacific. He was visiting the test site when the American findings in Lebanon were reported.

In saying American forces are ready for any assignment, McElroy was answering a question about President Eisenhower's statement Tuesday that additional forces might have to be used in the Middle East.

McElroy said the Strategic Air Command, the Navy and the Strategic Army Corps are alerted.

McElroy was reluctant to discuss the Middle East situation in any detail, saying he had been traveling much of the time since the crisis arose.

McElroy returned in the same plane from Hawaii to Washington in 8 hours and 30 minutes for the 5,000-mile trip.

Egypt's Nasser Can Gloat Over Iraq Success

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The new flames sweeping the Middle East light up another success for Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The Egyptian dictator was sailing home from Yugoslavia today on the yacht of the king he overthrew in 1952 to start a meteoric political career. The President of the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria returns to Cairo amid swiftly moving events that may bring his strongest challenge so far.

The developments began early Monday, while Nasser was visiting Communist President Tito of Yugoslavia. The monarchy in pro-Western Iraq was overthrown by pro-Nasser army officers—just as Nasser replaced King Farouk with a military-run republic.

The Iraqi revolt started the U. S. 6th Fleet moving eastward through the part of the Mediterranean which Nasser is now plying. The fleet was on its way to land Marines in Lebanon. And the United States, in statement to the U. N. Security Council, made clear that it considers Nasser the villain in the piece.

Crisis is no stranger to the tall, darkly handsome 40-year-old Arab leader.

A plotter from the time he was a boy, Nasser gambled and won two years ago this month when he nationalized the Suez Canal.

France and Britain struck back with an invasion of the canal zone after Israel invaded the Egyptian Sinai peninsula. But Nasser had correctly calculated the delicate Soviet and American balance.

Britain and France were forced to halt their invasion and the Israelis finally agreed to withdraw, turning Nasser's military defeat into a resounding political triumph among Arab nationalists.

Nasser moved stubbornly ahead with the operation of the canal on his own terms and rebuilt his military forces with Communist help.

Last Feb. 1 the union of Egypt and Syria was proclaimed with Nasser as its president. The kingdom of Yemen federated a month later and Nasser was hailed by masses in the Middle East as the great Arab unifier.

When the Lebanon revolt erupted this spring, the Beirut government accused Nasser's U. A. R. of sparking the rebellion by its virtual support with arms and men from Syria. The U. A. R. denied the charge, but the United States, Britain and France maintained there was outside interference.

Observers sent to Lebanon were kept from the border by the rebels.

Skull Report Merely Clue to Cemetery

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The unidentified caller said he had seen a human skull near a pumping station on Highway 15 south of here, so the Pine Bluff Commercial sent a reporter to the scene.

Newsman Maurice Petty found what he thought to be the top of a skull and hastily summoned Deputy Sheriff Buck Oliver. More searching uncovered two leg bones.

But just when city and Oliver were about to get excited they found an old cemetery on a knoll nearby.

Excavation for the pumping station had opened one of the graves.

In the Gubernatorial Campaign Faubus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Orval Faubus declared yesterday that Sid McMath, Harry Ashmore and others who opposed his third-term bid were making an about-face on the integration issue.

The governor told an audience at Helena that these foes now were trying to adopt his position on the question.

He said they had "read the handwriting on the wall."

Ashmore, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, is a favorite campaign target of the governor. So is McMath, former governor of Arkansas, who counterattacked Faubus Monday night and denied that he was an integrationist.

Faubus said: "These opponents can now see that the endorsement of my people by the people of Arkansas (Continued on Page Three)

More Marines Land, and Tension Builds Up in Embattled Beirut

British May Send Troops to Aid of Jordan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States flew new units of action-ready Marines into the Mediterranean area today. Reports also circulated that British troops may soon land in Jordan, following up U. S. landings in Lebanon.

The first of the combat-trained Marines moved into the strife-torn Lebanese capital of Beirut. Rebel forces holed up there offered no opposition.

Jordan's King Hussein has made an appeal for help to both London and Washington. But qualified officials said he has talked only with the British about sending troops to help keep his pro-Western nation from suffering the fate of Iraq where Arab officers linked to the Nasser government at Cairo seized power Monday.

From the United States, Hussein is reported asking only material aid including petroleum which Jordan normally gets from Iraq.

Backing up the first battalion of 1,800 Marines to land in embattled Lebanon Tuesday, a second battalion moved ashore today, and a third stood offshore waiting to move in. From Cherry Point, N.C., fresh units flew to staging bases on the way to the Middle East.

The Cherry Point information office said at least several more planes would take off this afternoon. The base would not name units nor give the number of men.

In North America and at far-flung bases abroad, United States land, air and sea forces were alerted for a counterstroke from either the Soviet Union or Nasser's United Arab Republic.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—The United States and Britain are considering what aid they can give Jordan's King Hussein to help him "restore peace and stability" in Iraq, a government spokesman said today.

The Jordan radio indicated Tuesday night Hussein had appealed to Washington and London for military help.

A government statement broadcast today said Iraq would soon receive help from Jordan, "and other Arab countries who seek peace and stability which will settle the Iraqi crisis." The other countries were not identified.

Hussein proclaimed himself head of the Arab Union of Iraq and Jordan after his cousin King Faisal II of Iraq was overthrown Monday by a military coup in Baghdad.

The statement noted that reports were still conflicting on the fate of Faisal. He has been reported wounded, besieged in his palace and in hiding.

The U. S. State Department said two Americans and a former Iraqi foreign minister, Fadhi Jamali, also had been reported killed by Baghdad mobs.

The Americans were tentatively and unofficially identified as Eugene Burns, 53, Sausalito, Calif., a wild life columnist looking into tourist possibilities in the area, (Continued on Page Five)

Selwyn Lloyd of Britain Heads for U. S.

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd is flying to Washington tonight for conference. He is reported to be taking word that Britain stands ready to land forces in Jordan as soon as King Hussein asks for military help.

In the House of Commons today Lloyd said he had been invited to Washington by Secretary of State Dulles, and would go in order "to keep in the closest touch with the U. S. government."

Then, using a phrase that President Eisenhower emphasized Tuesday, he said events that led to the Baghdad revolt were part of a sustained campaign of indirect aggression.

The aim, he said, is to overthrow established regimes and install the small, independent Arab states in Lebanon. Today he said this had resulted in the rebels there ordering a ceasefire.

Lloyd announced Tuesday that he would be in the Middle East. As for Jordan, qualified informants in London said the government almost certainly will respond affirmatively if its young king, Hussein, asks for help. Up to this afternoon, he had not done so but Jordan had sounded out the British as to whether air and land forces would be available if needed.

British authorities have alerted air, land and sea forces all the way from the home islands to Kenya in East Africa for possible action in the Middle East.

Informants said military action also is likely in the oil islands of the Persian Gulf if any threat arises against British oil investments there.

Britain's decision to recognize Hussein as the legal head of the Iraq-Jordan union has not yet been announced. Nor do the British know how Hussein proposes to try to establish his authority or claims over rebel-controlled Iraqi territory.

The assumption here—but no government official will confirm—is that he is planning to take military action against the Iraqi rebels if it seems to him that any such campaign may succeed.

Rebels Creep Up From City's Moslem Section

By EDWIN A. SHANKE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Another U. S. Marine battalion landed in Lebanon today. Advance units moved from their beachhead into Beirut, the capital.

This swelled the total of Lebanese in this troubled republic to 3,600. More are on the way.

Rebel leaders fighting to topple pro-Western President Camille Chamoun have denounced the Marine landing. But there was no opposition as the Marines swung into the capital.

Rebel leader Saad Salami, holed up in the Moslem quarter of Beirut, issued a statement urging Lebanese "to defend your country and safeguard your freedom."

An air of tension gripped the city. Rebel forces moved forward three blocks from behind their barricades.

American civilians were leaving the country in greater numbers. Of about 3,200 Americans in Lebanon, 220 private citizens and 100 dependents of embassy personnel have left since the revolt began 68 days ago.

The United States, which sent in the Marines at Chamoun's request, described the intervention here as the creation of a beachhead to assure peace and stability in the Middle East.

The renouement of the Soviet Union and the Arab bloc headed by Egypt's President Nasser was not yet known.

The spotlight appeared likely to shift rapidly from Lebanon to neighboring Jordan, the partner of Iraq in the Arab Federation. A pro-Nasser coup on Monday overthrew Faisal, King of Iraq, and chief of the Federation. Reports were still conflicting as to the fate of Faisal.

King Hussein of Jordan announced his succession to Faisal as head of the Federation.

A Jordan spokesman in Amman said the United States and Britain were considering what aid to give Jordan. The Jordan radio indicated Hussein has asked for assistance to put down the rebel regime in Baghdad.

Britain has announced movements of land, air and sea forces toward the Middle East.

The first Marine unit to enter Beirut was headed by U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock, Adm. James L. Holloway, commander of the U. S. fleet, and Gen. Guad Shueibi, commander of the Lebanese army. It included a tank and two troop carriers with 30 men aboard. This column stopped at the U. S. Embassy.

Another unit, including a tank and five amphibious troop carriers with 150 men, continued to the port area to secure it for the landing of supplies at docks. More men were on the way.

The second contingent of 1,800 Marines landed early today from ships of the U. S. 6th Fleet, joining the 1,800-man contingent that arrived Tuesday. Another battalion will arrive shortly, bringing the total to 5,400 men.

Offshore 11 ships of the 6th Fleet rode at anchor. LSTs were pulled up to the beach.

The Marines as they came ashore assembled at the airport five miles south of Beirut.

Supplies and vehicles continued to flood across the beach, watched by hundreds of holiday-minded Lebanese who came out from the city to see the show.

The Lebanese army and police, while officially loyal to Chamoun, have made no determined effort to dislodge the rebels from the Moslem quarter during the 68 days of the rebellion. Activity in Beirut has consisted mainly of frequent exchanges of firing and terrorist bombings to enforce a rebel-called general strike which (Continued on Page Five)

States Rights Issue Rises in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—A states' rights controversy with a civil rights twist boiled toward a showdown today in the House.

Overshadowing it were cloak-room hints that, even if the bill at issue were passed, it would be vetoed by President Eisenhower.

It's one of the shortest bills to reach the House floor this year, but there is widespread disagreement over what its 74 words provide.

Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) of the Rules Committee, which cleared the measure a month ago by a 6-5 vote, contends the bill means exactly what it says:

"No act of Congress shall be construed as indicating an intent on the part of Congress to occupy the field in which such act operates, to the exclusion of all state laws on the same subject matter, unless such act contains an express provision to that effect, or unless there is a direct and positive conflict between such act and a state law so that the two cannot be reconciled or consistently stand together."

Smith introduced the bill in what he said was an effort to keep state sedition laws effective. He acted after the Supreme Court ruled that a federal antisection law pre-empted that field and rendered a Pennsylvania law on that

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two American businessmen have been reported killed by mob action in Baghdad, capital of Iraq, the State Department said today.

It reported some Western Europeans possibly also were killed in the outbreak of violence Monday in the revolt-torn capital.

State Department press officer Lincoln White declined to give names of the Americans reported killed, saying the reports of the slayings were unconfirmed. But generally the information was in the State Department as being true.

White said a third American escaped after being beaten.

White told a news conference that communications between the State Department and the embassy at Baghdad had been interrupted since Monday. He said the interruption was temporary and he hoped contact would be restored.

Leggett Stay Rejected by State Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Three judges of the Arkansas Supreme Court today rejected an application for another stay for condemned slayer Emmet Earl Leggett.

They turned down a petition of Attorney Kenneth Coffelt asking that issuance of a mandate for electrocution of the 21-year-old Leggett be delayed.

Coffelt sought the postponement to permit him to seek another sanity hearing for Leggett, who was convicted of the 1955 strangulation killing of 14-year-old Joe King near Jacksonville.

Coffelt planned to ask State Prison Supt. Lee Henslee to impanel a jury to pass on Leggett's present mental state. Such a procedure is possible under an old and little-used law, Arkansas law forbids execution of an insane man.

Under customary procedure, the clerk of the Supreme Court will now issue a mandate to the office of Gov. Orval Faubus. It then will be up to Faubus to set a date for Leggett's electrocution. Faubus cannot commute the slayer's sentence.

The U. S. Supreme Court recently refused to interfere with the often-postponed electrocution.

The three Arkansas judges who denied Coffelt's petition today were Associate Justices J. S. Holt, Paul Ward and Sam Robinson.

The seven-member state Supreme Court is in summer recess, but the three judges held a special session to consider the petition. Coffelt sought unsuccessfully to have the denial reviewed by the entire court.

Coffelt's next move, if any, was uncertain. Apparently, however, he could still ask Henslee to hold a sanity hearing.

A decision will be up to Henslee, subject to legal review.

But some opponents read into the bill an attempt by Southern Democrats to try to invalidate the federal civil rights law through state laws on the same subject.

TODAY'S 2-MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF THE DIAMOND BELT

Ninth of a series

by Donald J. Sobol

Perhaps it was because I was young and enchanted by my first circus, but never has another human thrilled me as did the Great Merko.

"All aerialists since have bored me; their bodies seem grotesquely overdeveloped. Ah, but the Great Merko. If only you could have beheld that slender yet superbly strong and graceful figure floating like a swallow 50 feet above the ground."

"It was the summer of 1904, the same year as the Great Merko's triumphant world tour. You may have read of the tributes everywhere. The czar's was the most fabulous of all—a diamond belt worth half a million dollars."

"Naturally, the newspapers publicized the belt—an extraordinary show of admiration for even the Great Merko's talents. Some of the sensational things printed then are better forgotten today."

"The night of its presentation, a roustabout tried to steal the belt, and was knocked senseless by a blow from the aerialist's fist. The belt was placed in a strongbox, where it lay for half a century."

"The Great Merko died in 1921, leaving a strange will. The belt was to be given in 1958 to the oldest grandson, and if no such descendant existed, to the next of kin."

"The attorneys for the estate located a grandson in Kansas City. One Fred Gipson. As the judge was about to unlock the strongbox, a Mrs. Vincent Behal swept into the courtroom."

"She claimed the diamond belt, being the closest of kin, a grand niece. With the next breath she proved the Great Merko was not Fred Gipson's grandfather."

"The judge agreed Mrs. Behal's evidence was valid. Under the terms of the will, he did not hesitate to award the diamonds—to whom?"

"My dear Mrs. Sydney, you are pulling an old sleuth's leg," admonished Haledjian. So that the other guests could not catch the answer, he whispered into Mrs. Sydney's ear.

Red Attempt to Oust Iraq From UN Fails

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today sought unsuccessfully to oust the representative of the overthrown Iraqi government in the U. N. Security Council.

The move was launched by Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev as the 11-nation Council met in a hurriedly called session to deal with the critical Middle East situation.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold acknowledged he had received a cable from the revolutionary government of Iraq naming a new delegate to replace Ambassador Abdul Majid Abbas. He said, however, that he did not consider the message as official.

Sobolev assailed the overthrown Iraqi government as rotten and said the Soviet Union does not recognize that the Arab Federation gives Jordanian King Hussein authority to issue orders relating to Iraq affairs.

The wrangle over the representation of Iraq delayed the scheduled speech by U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge notifying the Council that American Marines

News Briefs

CANNES, France (AP) — Ships of the U. S. 16th Fleet hurried toward the Middle East today and the British Mediterranean Fleet at Malta was put on 24-hour standby notice.

The 6th Fleet includes two carriers, nine destroyers and three submarines.

The sudden departures coincided with the dispatch of U. S. troop-carrying planes from the United States to Europe in case the coup in Iraq results in American troops being ordered to the Middle East.

In Britain, 8,000 troops were alerted for overseas movement.

HONOLULU (AP) — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy, at Eniwetok to observe U. S. nuclear tests, is flying back at once to Washington.

McElroy, who arrived in the test area Monday, had planned to stay until Friday. He cut short the visit because of the Middle East crisis.

MOSCOW (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson came back to Moscow today after 32 years. He noticed that this time there are no homeless children on the streets, he said.

The two-time Democratic presidential candidate was met by a small group of government officials and newsmen.

He leaves Thursday for Tashkent, the first stop on a three-week tour of the Soviet Central Asia, Siberia and the Urals.

His main purpose on the trip, Stevenson said, is to learn about the living and working conditions of the Soviet people.

PANAMA (AP) — Dr. Milton Eisenhower planned to talk about bitter inter-American relations today on a deep sea fishing trip with Panama's President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr.

President Eisenhower's brother said he would discuss economic aid with De la Guardia, including long- and short-term credits to Panama which Milton might recommend when he gets home.

Eisenhower plans to fly to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, the next stop on his fact-finding central American tour as a special U. S. ambassador.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — While units of the U. S. 6th Fleet sped toward the troubled Middle East today, Pope Pius XII called for prayers for world peace and a return to the precepts of Christianity.

The pontiff's plea and warning of possible universal extermination came in an encyclical letter to all bishops and archbishops of the Roman Catholic Church, the first that he has issued in more than a year.

ALOR STAR, Malaya (AP) — Premier Hain today was proclaimed sultan of Kedah. His father, Sir Badlishah, died Sunday. Hain, 39, is the youngest ruler of the Malayan state.

TOKYO (AP) — The U. S. Army today returned Camp Whittington, its 20 buildings, and its 12 million square foot reservation to Japan.

The camp 140 miles northwest of Tokyo was returned as part of a reduction of U. S. facilities in connection with the continuing chip back in American forces in Japan.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Typhoon Winnie bore down on Formosa today with 172-mile-an-hour winds and heavy rains that killed at least nine persons in the Philippines. The storm was expected to hit the Nationalist Chinese island tonight.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Leaders of three Moslem nations wound up an emergency meeting today after cabling President Eisenhower their thanks for American intervention in Lebanon.

The chiefs of state of Turkey, Iran and Pakistan had talked for two days on the Middle East crisis and the future of their Baghdad Pact, joined by the pro-Nasser coup in Iraq, only Arab pact member. Britain is the fifth member of the pact.

Mississippi Gas Barges Still Afire

GRAND LAKE, Ark. (AP) — Three gasoline barges still burned at an Esso Standard Oil Co. terminal on the Mississippi River here today as a result of an explosion Monday. One barge worker died as a result of the blast.

A fourth barge burned itself out yesterday and lay submerged in the river.

The body of James Falvey Jr., 30, of Baton Rouge, La., was found in the water near the sunken barge yesterday. Another worker reportedly was blown off a barge by the explosion but landed on shore uninjured.

A company spokesman said the blast occurred while 30,000 barrels of gasoline on the barges were being pumped ashore.

Sheriff John Biggs said it appeared to him that some of the barges might burn for several days unless firefighters could smother the flames in some manner.

Officials had not yet made an estimate of loss.

FROM CAVES TO STARDOM—From the gloomy little "cave" bistros of Paris to Hollywood stardom seems the path being followed by Juliette Greco. She's the onetime "Muse of St. Germain" who became the goddess of France's postwar Existentialist youth. In those days she boasted of not combing her hair for months. Now she's starring in "The Roots of Heaven," being made in Paris with Errol Flynn, Trevor Howard, Orson Welles and Eddie Albert.

DOROTHY DIX

First Love's Thrill Can Come But Once

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a teenager very much in love with a grand guy. I'm troubled about one thing. When I was a freshman I fell in love with a classmate. I really flipped my lid for him but in time it passed. My trouble is that I don't feel the same way about my present steady. Does this mean I really don't love him? — Candace

Dear Candace: Puppy love is made up of equal parts emotion and imagination. It's a hectic thing that no one could stand twice. As you recall, the attack is short-lived. Now that you are older, you can take love in stride. You can eat, sleep and breathe normally — well, almost normally. A man is the best thing in your life, but he's not your whole world. You are still young. This may be another passing fancy or it may be the real thing. Only time can tell. At any rate, the days of chills and thrills are probably gone. Be willing to settle for a mature, sane and steady love. It's more lasting. First love can't be duplicated — but it can be excelled.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 12, and my mother is a problem. She treats me like a 2-year-old. Tonight I asked her when I could start dating. "Never," she said. — Upset.

Dear Upset: I bet Mom is a bit upset herself. Twelve is a bit young to approach the dating question. Start with something easier. Lead up to your point by asking when she began dating. This is much more likely to lead to a mother-daughter discussion than a blunt question.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am writing this in the hope that I'll get advice from readers, as well as you. What do you do to get rid of guests who drop in uninvited and stay until three in the morning eating and drinking everything in sight? This happens quite often. — Disgusted.

Dear Readers: Please rally to this lady's assistance. What do you do about unexpected callers who overstay their welcome? My own idea would be to say sweetly, but very firmly, at about 11 p. m., "Sorry, but we simply must get to bed. Hard day ahead. So nice to have seen you!"

Dear Dorothy Dix: Last week at a barbecue I met a boy, and we became interested in each other. He had entered a contest and asked me to meet him afterwards but I had to leave unexpectedly. Should I write and apologize or just let it go? — M. L.

Dear M. L.: If you don't know that a boy who has been stood up rates the consideration of an apology, you'd better give up boys.

nomination, Ward had concentrated his campaign fire on what he called the "dangers of a third term" and alleged extravagance by the Faubus administration.

These topics have been subordinated to the racial issue in Ward's latest speeches.

Tonight Ward is scheduled to make a major television address at Memphis. The talk will then be in east Arkansas which is considered a bastion of Faubus' strength.

Subject of the address will be integration and Ward's proposal to resolve the problem.

The challenger made trips to Carlisle, Lonoke, Sheridan, Benton, Bismarck and Moberly yesterday.

Besides Memphis, he planned to visit Augusta and Wynne today.

not destined to enjoy industrial growth.

Finkbeiner spurned charges by Faubus that the Little Rock meal packer and the third Democratic candidate for governor—Chancellor Lee Ward of Paragould—had been put in the race by certain factions opposed to Faubus.

"I am certainly not being forced by my friends to run," Finkbeiner asserted. "In fact they tried to keep me from running. I myself am the one who put Chris Finkbeiner in the race."

He was asked by one listener what he thought Arkansas could do to restore the state's self respect, prestige and esteem from a setback suffered by adverse publicity over the Little Rock integration crisis.

Finkbeiner replied: "The first step is to get rid of the mess you've got now and start building from there. And I'll guarantee you will never have to apologize for any of my actions as on July 29 will prove them wrong in all the propaganda that has been put forth by the Arkansas Gazette and through interviews all over the nation.

Ashmore, the Gazette, McMath and the other contenders for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination — Chris Finkbeiner and Chancellor Lee Ward — have been bitterly critical of Faubus' stand in the Little Rock school integration crisis last fall.

After saying that he had observed a new development in the tactics of his opposition, Faubus added:

"Now they are saying over and over that the segregation-integration conflict should be resolved in the courts. That we need a cooling-off period and that a solution to the problem should be left to each local community."

"These were the things I called for — yes, even pleaded for — last September as well as before and since that time."

Other points on Faubus' campaign itinerary yesterday included Blytheville, West Helena, and Osceola. Today he was scheduled to visit Lapania, Triumphant, Harrisburg, Marianna and Forrest City.

Educational TV Program in Making

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 5-member executive committee which will collect ideas for educational television programs this fall was named yesterday by state Education Commissioner Arch Ford.

Seven commercial stations will carry the programs under a current plan.

Ford said the committee would meet here July 23 to report on their studies.

Members named to the committee are:

Sewer Cave-in Fatal for 3 at Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Two men, minutes apart, buried two laborers in a deep sewer excavation here yesterday and suffocated their foreman as he shoveled his way to the trapped pair. All three died.

Hours after the tragedy, tolling rescuers who refused to stop working for even a moment dug up the bodies of Charles Kegley, 40, of Jonesboro, the foreman; Cloia J. Rose, 40, also of Jonesboro, and Johnnie Barnhill, 22, of Harrisburg, Ark.

Kegley met a hero's death in trying to save his men. He was standing on a lip of the ditch, which was three feet wide and 18 feet deep, when the first cave-in occurred shortly before 5 o'clock quitting time.

The foreman yelled for 10 men working in the excavation to run. All but Rose and Barnhill got away.

Willie Brown, 32-year-old Negro member of the crew, said later: "Mr. Kegley grabbed a shovel and jumped in. He had partially gotten Barnhill dug out when the second cave-in happened. Mr. Kegley was completely covered."

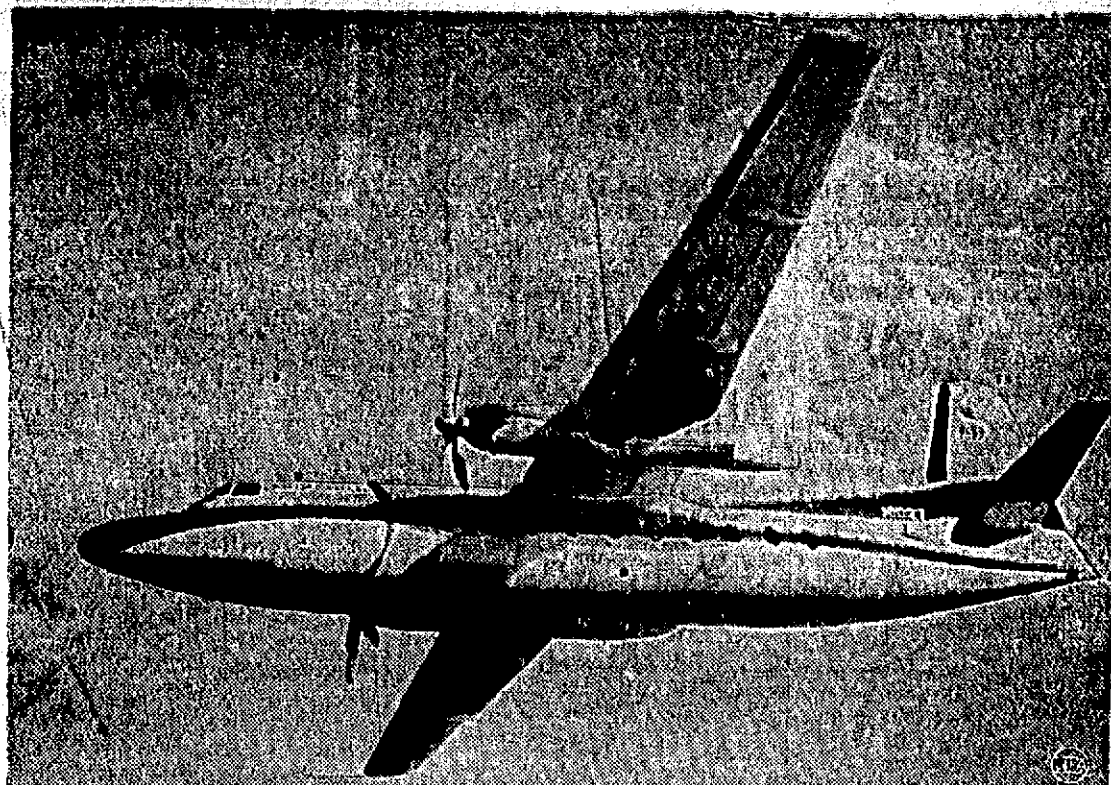

The second collapse caught Brown too and buried him up to the neck. He was dragged out unharmed and insisted on taking a shovel to help dig for the three entombed men.

By then police and fire department vehicles had arrived from the downtown sector of Jonesboro about one and one-half miles from the residential area where the excavation had been made.

The big ditch was only about 30 feet from a row of houses and their occupants rushed to the scene. Among others who arrived early were Kegley's wife and 18-year-old daughter Mary. The Kegley home was only a block from the site of the accident.

Mary Kegley became hysterical and had to be taken from the scene in an ambulance.

Thirty-five members of the City Water Light Co., which was preparing the sewer, joined the eight members of the original crew in a frantic effort to reach the buried men.

AERIAL MILESTONE—This is the F-27 jetliner, shown in test flight near Hagerstown, Md. It may have a greater impact on commercial aviation than the huge transcontinental jet transports. Its great significance is that it's the first jet-age plane built for short-haul routes. Built by Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., it is the first high-wing airplane used in this country since the famous Ford tri-motor jobs. Its wing goes through the top of the fuselage instead of underneath.

Chapter XXVI

The two men walked silently down the street. As they neared the Pleasure Palace, Parker asked quietly, "You working for the railroad, Tom?"

Rosser gave him a quick look, but made no reply. Without breaking his stride, they turned in to the Pleasure Palace, Parker in the lead.

Condon had used the few minutes since the massacre. The saloon had been vacated of patrons and the help, the bartenders, as well as the gamblers, had moved the bodies of the five dead men out to the alley, behind the saloon. A swamper was already sloshing water over the floor in front of the bar.

At the far end of the bar, a bartender was helping the man with the broken face, trying to stem the flow of blood. That was the scene when the sheriff and Rosser entered the saloon.

"Riley Condon, talking to a couple of his gamblers, turned. "Sheriff," he said, "Then he scowled at Rosser. 'I've no time for you, Rosser.'"

"Take time," snapped Rosser. "Sheriff," Condon said angrily, "you pick some strange friends."

The sheriff made a gesture of dismissal. "I've got to make a report."

"County's your business," said Condon. "Town belongs to the marshal."

"I thought it belonged to you, Condon," retorted Rosser. "I'm going to let that pass," Condon said. "There's been enough trouble for one day."

"How many did you kill?" challenged Rosser. "Six . . . a dozen. Some of the people on the street put it as high as 20 . . ."

Condon was white-faced. "Mob comes in here, we have a right to defend ourselves."

"A mob without a gun among them," taunted Rosser. "Get out of here!" shouted Condon. "Parker, get him out before!"

Parker gripped Rosser's arm. He said, to Condon, "I've still got to make a report."

"Five," snarled Condon. "They're out back in the alley. Now get out—both of you."

Condon whirled and walked in to his office, slamming the door behind him.

"Let's go," said Parker to Rosser in a low tone.

James Fenimore Fell was one of the last persons in Great Plains to hear of the Pleasure Palace massacre. He had worked from early morning steadily through the noon hour, not taking time out to eat.

Time was the element in this huge effort of 1888. They were laying track west from Wolf City, but only so much track could be laid in a single day, so Fell had decided to leapfrog the westward operation, send men and equipment to Great Plains and from there work eastward. The junction would take place somewhere between Wolf City and Great Plains.

That was the reason for the influx of workers.

Bill Daves knocked on his door and entered.

"Yes, Daves," he said impatiently as the superintendent of the Great Plains operation stood before him.

"I think you should know what has happened, Mr. Fell," Daves said soberly. "The men who received their pay today—"

Fell made an impatient gesture. "They got drunk. That's to be expected. Railroad men drink, and they fight."

Dolls, Both Yesterday and Today

Dolls of today and yesterday were featured on the program of the Lions club Monday noon.

The dolls of today were represented by Miss Judy Franks, recent winner of the Miss Hope beauty and talent contest, and Miss Glendon Huckabee, winner of the title Miss Hospitality for Hope. Both of these young ladies are competing in statewide contests to be held in Hot Springs and Arkadelphia, respectively.

The dolls of yesterday were from the collection of Mrs. J. C. Carlton, who has been collecting china-headed dolls since 1942 and who has 160 in her collection, some of them more than 150 years old.

Mrs. Carlton described some of her more famous dolls, including her Mary Todd Lincoln, Jenny Lind and Dolly Madison dolls. She refused to disclose how much she had paid for these dolls, declaring that not even her husband knew.

Mrs. Carlton, however, said the price of genuine china-headed dolls runs into the hundreds of dollars.

The Lions found the talk and dolls interesting and asked a number of questions at the conclusion of the talk.

The recent Lions sale of brooms netted $419 for the club's blind fund. The team captioned by Wilton Garrett won the contest for selling the most brooms. Members on the Garrett team, sold 311 brooms as compared to 204 by the team headed by Willie McCormick.

The losing team will treat the winners in the near future. Personnel of the program committee and the chairman of the club's standing committees were announced by newly elected president, W. H. Gunter, as follows:

Program: L. B. Tooley, chairman; Frank King, Jr., C. Daniels and Arthur M. Wimmell, with Vice-president W. L. Tate as sponsor representing the board of directors.

Agriculture, Jamie Russell; attendance, Bill Routon; boys and girls, A. J. Rhodes; bulletin editor, L. B. Tooley; citizenship and patriotism, John L. Wilson; civic improvement and community betterment, Bud Collier; conventions, Pritchard; finance, Cecil O'Steen; greeter, Sam Andrews; health and education, Cline Franks; Howard welfare, Dr. Wayne Lafferty; information, Charles Helms; public relations and publicity, Arthur Wimmell; safety, Richard Hogue; sight conservation for the blind, Dr. Harold Brents; United Nations, Miles Laha.

Clayton Middlebrooks, representing the New York Life Insurance Company, and Clyde Monte, Jr., of Monte Seed Store, were introduced as new members.

Guests of members included Fred Good of Hope, and Paul Hasche of Clarksville, Texas.

Arthur Wimmell was in charge of the day's program. Frank King will have next week's program.

"There were witnesses," Enough," Fell said, "Condon's been arrested."

Rosser cocked his head to one side. "Who'd arrest him?"

"The man who arrested you. The marshal."

"Mr. Fell," Rosser said patiently, "the marshal is Condon's man. So is the judge here."

"Isn't there a sheriff here?"

"There is, but the county outside of Great Plains is his jurisdiction. I haven't got the law on my side. I can fight only in self-defense. I tried to make Condon fight last night. I tried again this afternoon."

Goy. Long Vetoes 'Bus Veto' Bill

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Gov. Earl Long Monday announced his veto of a bill which would have let passengers decide whether they wanted to be segregated on buses and streetcars.

Passed during the recent legislative session, the measure would have allowed the first passenger—either white or Negro—who boarded a double seat to decide whether he could use the other half.

The bill was enacted after a federal court ruled against a similar measure in New Orleans.

Egypt's Nasser

It took the capital by surprise but jubilant celebrations followed in the streets of Cairo and Damascus.

Nasser was a 34-year-old lieutenant colonel in the Egyptian army when he masterminded the 1952 coup that toppled King Farouk. He had been plotting that upheaval 10 years, but when it came he still needed a front man.

The choice was Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib, a hero of the 1948 Palestine War, who became president and premier of the new regime.

Within two more years Naguib was out and Nasser was the power in front as well as behind the scenes.

has been only partly effective. Reliable observers said the landing of the Marines should be considered a precautionary operation.

"It is still basically a Lebanese show," one said. "The Marines are sitting on the sidelines in case they are needed."

Uncertainty about the purpose of their presence in Lebanon was reflected by the Marines lounging on the sunny beaches.

"If we do any fighting here, we will be on the same side as the Lebanese army, won't we?" asked Pte. Angelo T. Gostill of Mount Vernon, N.Y. He was eager to know who he would be fighting against but got only vague answers.

Brig. Gen. Sidney Wade, commander of the 2nd Marine Division, flew into Beirut and was taken on a tour of the beach by Lt. Col. Harry Hadd, the first officer to land Tuesday.

he did make clear that he hoped the action taken so far will be sufficient to support the government of Lebanon and that nation's independence.

"We hope that this result will quickly be attained and that our forces can be promptly withdrawn," he said. "We must, however, be prepared to meet the situation, whatever be the consequences."

The United States acted at the urgent request of President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon. At the same time, this country asked the United Nations to set up an international military force to protect Lebanon's independence.

If this is done, U. S. troops would be withdrawn.

Cuban Rebels Releasing Servicemen

By Larry Allen

QUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)—Cuban rebels have finally started releasing the rest of the North Americans they kidnapped; seven U. S. servicemen were freed Tuesday and others of the 22 still held were expected to be returned today.

The seven bearded men released were in good condition and high spirits as they stepped from two helicopters at the U. S. Navy base on Guantanamo Bay.

All said Fidel Castro's men treated them well during their three weeks in the rebels' jungle camps.

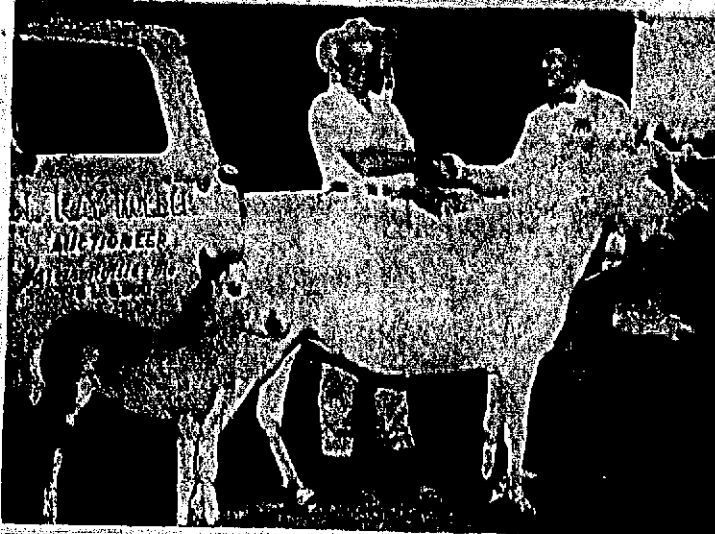

The returnees said they understood four or five more servicemen would be freed each day. They had been scheduled to start coming out of the east Cuban mountains Monday but apparently bad weather delayed transporting them to the pickup point.

"The rebels are willing and anxious to get rid of all the men because they wish to avoid endangering any of the captives' lives," said Storekeeper L. C. Robert Gibson of Chatham, N.C.

The rebels between June 20 and July 1 kidnapped 30 U. S. servicemen, 17 American civilians and 3 Canadians. All the civilians and one Navy airman were freed in small batches between July 2 and July 11, but the delay in freeing the rest of the servicemen was beginning to anger the Navy and aroused concern for the safety of the men.

The men released Tuesday were Gibson, Marine Sgt. Charles B. Young Jr., Brown, N. Y. C. Noble, S. Brown, Indian Head, Md. Aviation Mechanist Mateo, C. William Cristie, Scottsville, Kan.; Boatswain's Mate 20 Billy Ray Fox, Bloomfield, N.J.; Airman Alfredo B. Hernandez, El Paso, Calif.; and Electronics Technician 20 Valentin W. George, Northboro, Mass.

U. S. Calls for U. N. Support in Lebanon

By MAX HARELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld said in effect today that no international military force is needed to stop the flow of outside aid to Lebanese rebels.

The secretary general addressed the United Nations Security Council briefly just before U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge formally called for the establishment of a self force to supplement the U. N. observer group now in Lebanon.

Hammarskjöld said he had been informed by the observation group that it had successfully completed all arrangements for inspection of the entire Lebanese border.

"It is my feeling," he added, "that with the result thus achieved, the observation group is fully equipped to play its part envisaged for it in the U. N. total effort, with its general purpose of ensuring against infiltration and smuggling of arms."

One reason given by the United States for the landing of American Marines and for proposing a new security force was the inability of the U. N. observers to stop the flow of aid from the United Arab Republic to the Lebanese rebels.

"This it, supplied the work of the observer group but said the proposed international force was intended to give it added strength."

"We recognize," he said, "that the means available to this organization (observer group) are insufficient to meet all aspects of the situation. This is particularly true in the light of recent events in Iraq and . . . efforts to overthrow the lawful government of Jordan."

The Soviet Union was promoting a rival proposal for the Council to demand immediate withdrawal of the Marines the United States landed in Lebanon Tuesday. Delegates predicted the Council would vote on both resolutions by nightfall.

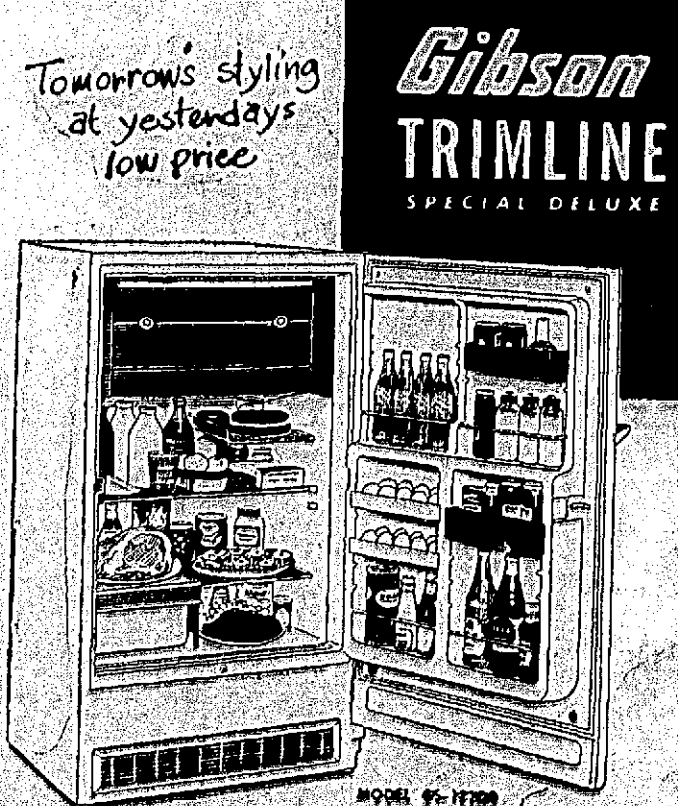

No one expected the Soviet resolution to get the necessary seven votes for adoption, and a Soviet veto of the U. S. proposal was generally anticipated. But one delegate suggested the Soviets might abstain from voting and let the American resolution pass, preferring "a U. N. force to an American force."

The Soviet Union vetoed the American resolution, the United States would not ask for a special session of that General Assembly to set up the U. N. force. Instead, it would leave the Marines in Lebanon as long as it was thought necessary.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—About 200 car owners got pretty sore when painters spraying a warehouse with aluminum paint got carried away with the work. The result: A silver cloud that left it's lining on cars in a next-door parking lot. Special paint-removing crews restored the original colors.

CAMPION, Ky. (AP)—A tour-ni-quet made from the snake that bit him may have saved the life of Curt Akers, 16. Curt was bitten by a rattlesnake while mowing weeds. His father killed the snake and knotted it around the boy's leg. The boy then walked a mile to get help from a physician. He was reported in fair condition.

FITCHBURG, Mass. (AP)—The Charlton brothers—Robert E., 33, and Francis J., 32—agree in most matters but not in politics. Robert is running for the Republican nomination for a seat in the Massachusetts House. Francis also is a candidate for the same seat but on the Democratic ticket.

VERNON, Conn. (AP)—Town fathers canceled a beard-growing contest planned for the community's upcoming 150th anniversary celebration when too many people said their employers threatened to fire them if they grew whiskers.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police Sgt. Joseph E. Judd and two other cops used a saw to get their evidence into court for a numbers case. The evidence—three numbers—was on a board attached to a wall in the news stand and shoe repair shop run by the defendant. The magistrate held defendant Vernie Bunson, 52, for grand jury action.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The increase in old age Social Security benefits, together with a hike in the payroll tax, moved today toward approval by the House Ways and Means Committee. It would mean an addition of 10 per cent, or a minimum of $5, to present Social Security pension checks under proposals now reportedly favored by committee members. The boost appeared certain to get quick approval by House and Senate. It would be in line with an election-year pattern that has produced later pension checks for the old folks every two years since 1952.

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—Robert Rathbone, 4, son of Mrs. Alice Rathbone of Texarkana, and Mrs. W. H. Moonenham, 75, were killed and three other persons were injured in a car-truck collision on U. S. Highway 59 about four miles south of here yesterday. The injured included Mrs. Rathbone, driver of the car, her 12-year-old son Charles, and Edward Rushing of Mount Pleasant, Tex., who was alone in the gravel truck.
